

Design for trolleys

Italian supplier Organizzazione Orlandelli is introducing a new ABS water tray for the standard trolley. As the company explains, the raised areas on the surface of the tray allow for thorough irrigation while protecting the plants from any direct contact with the water, which can lead to a lack of oxygen. The product avoids any water dripping on the shelves, which then remain clean. Moreover, the water trays add a touch of aesthetic appeal to the trolleys. The multitude of colours and the functionality of the product provide a designer look that facilitates plant sales.

Home tool kit

A new development from kwb (Karl W. Burmeister) is the "Home-Tool-Box", a drawer tool chest designed to fit unobtrusively onto any living room shelving. Each of the drawers can be removed separately and taken to where that particular tool is needed. As the supplier says, a patented drawer lid ensures that nothing is lost in transport and each tool can always be found neatly in its own slot. The box is available in many modern colour variations.
